Boy Scout Camp burns Tuesday

The Harrison County Boy Scout Camp on County Infirmary Lane burned to the ground Tuesday night.

Harrison County Sheriff Bruce Hampton said the call to dispatch was made around 10 p.m.

"There wasn't anything they could do," he said, noting that the building was fully involved by the time firefighters arrived.

Hampton said he has called for a state arson investigator.

He said they would know more about the fire's origin once the investigator was able to go through the debris.

He said some equipment was being stored inside along with push mowers.

Commission asks for IRS meeting

Seeking waiver of penalties and interest for non-payment of payroll taxes

By BEN HYATT, NEWS WRITER

A United States Federal Revenue officer is scheduled to meet with members of the Commission on Aging in order to discuss unpaid federal income tax that with penalties and interest has rung up a $60,000 bill.

According to Harrison County Judge-Executive Alex Barnett, a federal revenue officer is scheduled to be in Harrison County Thursday, May 2, to meet and discuss with Commission on Aging board members about neglected federal financial obligations.

The Commission on Aging is a governing body for the Harrison County Senior Citizens Center.

"During the meeting, it is the board's intentions to ask for some forgiveness on penalties," explained Barnett. "Of course, the center underwent some unforeseen problems with the building and past management and has been unable to get ahead. So we are hoping that we can get the overall amount down."

Currently, the Senior Citizens Center is nearly $60,000 behind in unpaid payroll tax and penalties, which carry as much as 22 percent interest.

According to Barnett, during the March 21 Senior Citizen Center board meeting, the director for the center, Tracy Whitaker, who also serves as the financial officer, informed the board members of a $21,000 charge in penalties and unpaid payroll tax.

A special meeting was called six days later, where the board members voted to cut all employee hours and to no longer take any more clients until the situation was resolved.

However, in just one month the $21,000 deficit jumped to nearly $60,000.

"We believe that most of that was due to penalties," explained Barnett. "High interest rates are probably what caused the substan-

Chief Carson dies Sunday

By BEN HYATT, NEWS WRITER

After serving 31 years as Harrison County Fire Chief, Charles Carson, Jr. passed away Monday, April 29, from cancer.

Carson, 70, spent over 50 years as a firefighter for both the Berry area and Harrison County Volunteer Fire Department.

Carson and his late wife, Peggy, started the Harrison County Christmas Project over 20 years ago where they collected and provided toys for unfortunate children on Christmas Day.

The Carson family opened their home to many foster children over the years.

"I think they quit counting after 149 children," recalled his son, Charles Allen Carson. "They loved kids."

Carson started battling cancer in 1976 when he was diagnosed with leukemia. Several years later he was diagnosed again with lymphoma.

Visitation for Carson will be Thursday, May 2, at Ware Funeral Home from 5-9 p.m. The funeral will take place Friday at 2 p.m.

The family asks in lieu of flowers, memorial contributions be made to Harrison County Firefighters Association or The Community Christmas Project.

Case named assistant superintendent of schools

By BECKY BARNES, EDITOR

Harrison County's new assistant superintendent of schools is really not new to the district at all.

For the last 28 years, David Case has served Harrison County schools in some capacity.

Some people may remember him when he first began his teaching career at Westside Elementary as a sixth grade teacher in 1985. Others may remember when the middle school first opened for the 1987-88 school year and Case moved his sixth grade class to the Hilltop. A year later, he moved from sixth grade to eighth grade social studies where he remained for seven years.

For seven years after that he was, for the most part, the first face that Northside Elementary students saw in the mornings while he was principal.

Eleven years ago, Case moved to Central Office where he has served in many positions. He has been director of facilities, in charge of security and assessment coordinator. For two years he was the transportation director.

When Case assumes the assistant superintendent position, which will officially begin July 1, he will still be over facilities as well as keeping his hand in assessments.

His new duties will include the day-to-day operations as well as be a sounding board for Superintendent Andy Dotson and the Harrison County Board of Education.

"As always I will be available to the parents and students of Harrison County Schools," Case said. "I'm very excited about the new position and thankful for the confidence that Mr. Dotson and the board of education have in me."

Case will be assuming the position left by retiring Dee Gee Fischer.

"I'll have some mighty big shoes to fill," Case said. "She's been a wonderful asset to our community, our school system and to the students of Harrison County."

Case vowed that he will be working extremely hard to make Harrison County schools the best they can be.

Case graduated from Harrison County High School in 1981. He graduated from the University of Kentucky in 1985 with a BA in elementary education. He earned his masters degree from Georgetown College and his Rank I in Educational Leadership from Eastern Kentucky University.

He and his wife, Lisa, have three sons, Andrew, Eric and Brandon.

Andrew and Eric live in Lexington and Brandon is a sophomore at HCHS.

He is the son a Mary Lou LaCore.

Grants sought to aid with development of Flat Run Veterans' Park

By BEN HYATT, NEWS WRITER

Noticeable development may be in store for Flat Run Veterans' Park in the near future.

Cynthiana Harrison County Parks and Recreation director Brad Steele made his way to Frankfort Tuesday, April 30, to submit two grants that could generate approximately $180,000 to be used at Flat Run Veterans' Park.

"This is what we need to help enhance a park that everyone has been patiently waiting to see developed," commented Steele.

The larger of the two grants, a land and water grant, would be matched up to $75,000 by the federal government, totaling a possible $150,000 for capitol improvements.

"The way the grant works is we come up with half through donations, donated time or equipment from our local govern bodies and the federal government gives us the other $75,000 to help with costs," explained Steele. "It is a 50/50 match."

Steele explained that the grant would be used to install a nine-hole disc golf course, four soccer fields, sand volleyball court, an additional playground for younger children between the ages of two and 12, several park benches, playground surfacing, two basketball courts and a smaller version of the current pavilion.

Steele added that a possible fishing dock may be built at River Road Park if funding is sufficient.

The second grant, which is also a 50/50 match, could generate up to $30,000 to be used for building new surface areas.

"What we are looking to do is inner-link the facilities together so walking around is easier for the handicap and children," said Steele. "Approximately 700 feet of walking surface will be laid, which will connect everything as well as some signage showing everyone directions at the park."

According to Steele, Harrison County is in good standing to receive both grants.

"I feel really good about these grants," said Steele. "They grade the applications on a point scale and currently we meet every standard to the highest point value."

However, Steele explained that the results will take until January 2013 before any county is informed of being awarded any money.

"I encourage anyone who is on board to contact local state government to help push us to the top," said Steele. "It is time that development takes place and for us to continue moving forward it will take everyone's help."

Heroin sends users into downward spiral

By BRYAN MARSHALL, LCNI WRITER

Shayne's mother knew her baby boy was up to something.

Throughout each day, she would call her son at his Bellevue, Ky, home to check on him.

If he didn't answer, she would be on her way.

A day like any other in November 2011, Shayne picked up when his mom called, but his slurred speech worried her.

She was at his house in minutes trying to get him out of a locked bathroom.

"I told everyone to leave me alone because I was going to the bathroom," said a now-24-year-old Shayne, locked up in the Grant County Detention Center. "But, I was on the bathroom floor dying. That's when she called the ambulance. I was in there overdosing."

After calling 911, Shayne's mother and girlfriend struggled to hold him up outside of the home as they waited for an ambulance to arrive.

As the paramedics rushed him to the hospital, Shayne was injected with Narcan, a drug used to reverse the effects of heroin.

The impact was imme-diated.

"It felt like my eyes just popped open," Shayne said.

"I felt like I was on fire. My legs were burning and I was freaking out. The only thing I could say was, 'Am I going back to jail?' The ambulance people said that if they would have been two minutes later, they wouldn't have been able to bring me back."

After spending six hours recovering in the hospital, Shayne was discharged.

No police.

No arrest made.

The next step was clear for Shayne.

"I went straight from the hospital to get high," he said.

addicts," Shayne said. "I had been around them, but I had never done it. When I took those pain pills, I knew what everybody else was getting into them for."

Shayne got hooked on the pain pills, but said he was still a functioning addict.

That would all change when he fell down the slippery slope of addiction and began abusing heroin.

"I was doing pain pills on the regular," Shayne said. "Then, the people I was hanging around with started doing heroin and I started giving them rides to get it. That's when it started. I didn't have any pain pills and they had heroin. I was open to doing anything that took me out of myself. As long as I didn't have to feel who I was and I could be high, it didn't matter what it was."

Intensified experience

Shayne said he just wanted to fit in, to be like everyone else.

He describes heroin as "really like the same thing, just intensified" compared to pain pills.

Like many, Shayne, who was 22 at the time, started out by snorting heroin.

"I got sick the first time," he said. "The taste of it alone made me puke. Then, I just felt like I was invincible. I felt like I had all the energy in the world, but I couldn't keep myself standing up at the same a needle because "since she was doing it, I felt like I had to be doing what she was doing."

'Playing with death'

One poke turned to many as Shayne's craving led him to shoot up all day, everyday.

Before he even injected himself with a needle, he would already be thinking about how he was going to get his next fix.

"It's like when you go to the hospital and they put you on an IV, you can feel the cold water tial jump in just one month."

According to Barnett, due to the growing needs of the Senior Citizens Center and declining federal assistance for operation, Whitaker was withholding federal payroll tax in order to keep the programs in full swing.

"I believe she thought she was acting in the best interest for the center," explained Barnett. "However, it just grew to more than she could manage and she finally realized that she couldn't neglect one bill in order to pay another."

According to Barnett, it is still unknown how long the issue has been in the making.

"An audit was performed by Larry Williams, a CPA in Frankfort, on June 30, 2012, and he found nothing out of the ordinary," explained Barnett. "I think that the center can be self-sufficient. It is just going to take some work."

Barnett expressed the need to keep the center open and in full operation.

"We are looking into every possible idea and looking to other counties for ideas," said Barnett. "The center is necessary and we just have to work together to make sure it stays open."

Financial disclosure a must for Commission on Aging

No one is crying abuse of public trust, but there are some serious questions to be raised with the recent unraveling of finances for the Harrison County Commission on Aging.

First, on March 21, board members were advised that the Senior Citizens Center was $21,000 in the red with monies to be paid to the state and federal government. That has escalated over the last month to a new deficit of $60,000.

Now the question has become who is going to pay the $60,000?

The bulk of that sum is penalties and interest.

Why was the Cynthiana City Commission and the Harrison County Fiscal Court approached only after the total indebtedness had reached such an exorbitant amount?

And this is the not the first bail out. Just last year, the city and county governments kicked in $5,000 when the center got behind on its rent. There was also some help with costs incurred by a flood-damaged building ($3,319 city, $1,790 county) in addition to their annual stipend for local governments amounting to $19,500 from the county and $9,102 from the city.

A special meeting has been called between the Commission on Aging and a federal revenue agent. There should be nothing less than a full financial disclosure from the commission in the days that follow that meeting.

There's plenty to do this summer in Harrison County

Column

Ben Hyatt
news writer

Is summer really on its way?

For the sake of not jinxing the county back into another cold spell... maybe I won't say it out loud, but I do believe that warm weather is in our near future.

So what does that mean?

It means a lot for many Harrison County families if you think about it.

Baseball is now underway, so many families will be gathering nearly every weekend to watch their children and grandchildren make memories at River Road Park.

If it's not baseball it might be softball, which I have been told will resume at River Road Park after several years of absence.

For others, the warm weather might mean pulling the camper out for a wash as they get ready for weekend getaways at several Kentucky campgrounds and bodies of water.

Spring cleaning is another favorite... yeah right... that many of us find ourselves engaged in as we look to throw away the stuff still not used from last year's saved pile.

Or maybe it's a time to sneak a few of our spouse's unneeded items out without them knowing, like the 30 pair of shoes that never get worn.

But most importantly, it is a time for family.

Now I understand that money is still tight for many families in Harrison County and that parents are forced to work long hours despite children wanting to make that special trip to Florida to see Mickey and the gang.

However, there is plenty to do in Harrison County that leaves the pocket feeling a little less empty than a trip to the beach.

Perhaps one of my favorite events coming up will be Cynthiana's second annual Rod Run headed-up by Jerry Adams.

What a success it was last year as thousands of spectators and car exhibitors lined the streets of Cynthiana.

As it appears, Adams has done everything in his power to promote the event and make it bigger than before with more for every age and taste.

Never before has Cynthiana been buzzing with anticipation for an event like this one. All I can say is move over Raggedy

Ann Festival, I think the Rod Run is the new favorite.

Of course, the owners of Rohs Opera House provide an array of things to enjoy, from a simple movie on Friday night, to local talents being displayed through music and plays.

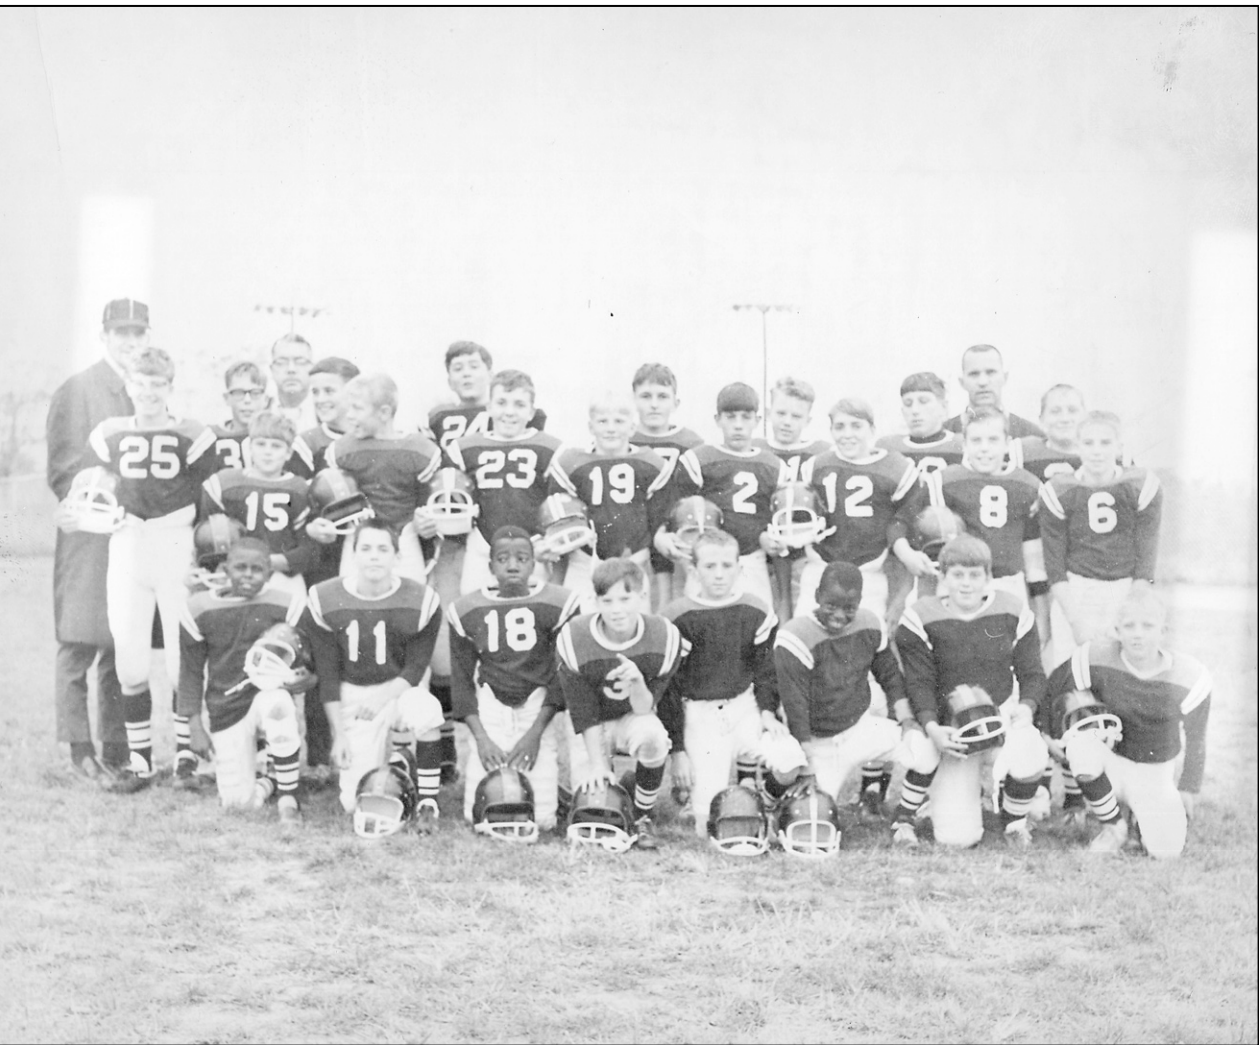

The Art Walk, Fabulous Fourth and Taste of Harrison County are also local favorites that will hopefully give those with little pocket money a chance to feel that they are on vacation.

And of course there is always a Reds' game, which can be reasonable as long as you eat before you go and give something to the kids for distraction so you're not out $50 in silly souvenirs.

So catch yourself before you start complaining about nothing to do this summer.

As long as you keep your mind open to trying new local things, summer will be over before you know it.

Besides, it sure beats a Honey Do List.

Argo and the class of 2013

To the editor:

Did you catch it? It was a trailing sentence at the end of Chris Terrio's acceptance speech for the "Best Writing (Adapted Screenplay)" Oscar for the film Argo.

Mr. Terrio finishes with this..."And so I want to dedicate this to...the people all over the world in the U.S. and Canada and Iran who use creativity and intelligence to solve problems nonviolently."

This has struck a deep chord in me, and it is something I have thought about in relation to the HCHS graduating class of 2013.

My daughter wears this t-shirt from a local church with the words, "People Matter Most" on it. The fact that she even wears it, tells me that her generation understands that we need to do something different.

We need to put people first, and not objectify life and address one another with hostility. It is going to take creativity and intelligence to break down our older modes of thinking, our outdated reactions to violence, and our war-prone mentality that sees retaliation with arms as a useful strategy to threats.

I see something different and new being exemplified in our youth today. I see peace and non-violence are in fact a reality and that they embrace taking care of one another in our own backyards—the backbone of larger scale peacekeeping and non-violence.

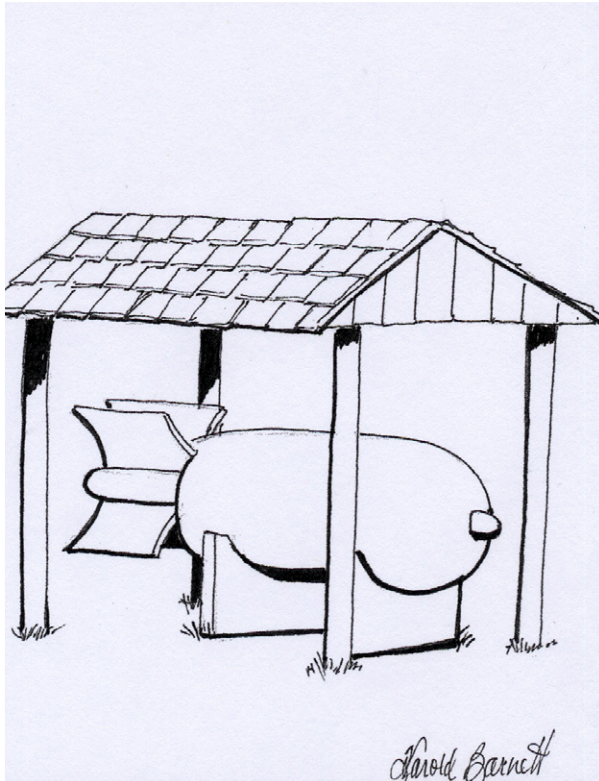

They will be smarter than us, dig deeper for solutions to everyday problems, and hopefully will do a better job at making "people matter most" in a non-violent world that makes humanity better.

Cheers to your futures class of 2013.

running through your arms,” Shayne said. “I could feel it moving through my veins. I don’t even think it was the heroin that got me. It was that needle. The actually poking of the needle is what really excited me. Maybe, it was the fear of it. Every time, it’s like playing with death. It sounds horrible, but it’s exciting.”

There were a few times Shayne would miss the vein and his arm would swell and turned black and blue.

He wasn’t concerned about sharing needles.

The high outweighed any consequence he faced.

He simply did not care.

Admitting addiction

During a camping trip with friends on the weekend of Fourth of July in 2011, Shayne spent $15,000 running back from A.J. Jolly Park to Cincinnati buying heroin.

“I knew I had a problem,” Shayne said. “I couldn’t even sleep if I had drugs. I was like a kid on Christmas. You know Christmas is coming and there’s going to be presents there, so you don’t want to sleep. You just want to hurry up and get them.”

Shayne did try to get help one time, but he could not make it through the sickness of the detox.

Again, while living in Ohio, Shayne’s mother encouraged him to come back to Northern Kentucky to get sober.

“I thought, if I can make it through three days of the sickness, I can give up dope and I can get my kids back,” Shayne said. “It was a day and a half into it and I was really sick. So, I decided to try to get some Xanax to get some sleep. But, I went overboard and started drinking Tylenol and Nyquil, anything I could to knock me out. One second I’m sitting in the house of my baby mom’s family, the next second I’m at a store telling them to give me everything they got. I totally blacked out.”

In his drug-fueled haze, Shayne drove three miles to a store in Covington in the middle of the night, a drive he does not remember.

He was in the store for about 45 minutes before he asked the clerk for a piece of paper and a pencil.

On the paper, an unarmed Shayne told the clerk to give him everything he had or he was going to shoot him.

He was arrested for second-degree robbery and possession of a controlled substance and lodged in Kenton County jail.

Addict/father

Shayne has three daughters, ages 9, 8 and 5 years old.

He lived with the two youngest and their mother before his incarceration.

He has not seen his eldest daughter, who lives with her mother, in 16 months.

“I started doing heroin and stuff and I totally forgot about her,” Shayne admits regretfully. “She didn’t live with me.”

Shayne’s youngest two daughters live with his aunt, a consequence that stemmed from his arrest in Campbell County.

“I would steal anything I could,” he said. “I got caught in Campbell County when I broke into my work and stole a bunch of money out of the safe. I was willing to do whatever to get my drugs. I didn’t care who I hurt. I didn’t care if it was my kids. I’d steal from them if I had to. When I sit back now and think about that stuff, it’s horrible.

But, it’s the truth.”

When police came to arrest him, Shayne jumped out the window of his apartment.

He was apprehended with heroin on him and the children were taken away because of neglect.

Shayne said he always felt like he was a good father to his girls.

“I’ve done (heroin) in the same house, but they’ve never seen me do anything,” he said. “I’d go in the bathroom for an extended amounts of time and tell them to go play. They’d wonder why I’m in the bathroom for 20 and 30 minutes at a time. I was in there getting high.”

“I felt like I was doing the right thing because I didn’t show it to them,” Shayne said. “I told them I loved them every-day and dressed them good. They were fed. I thought there wasn’t anything wrong with what I was doing. But, in all reality, there was.”

Shayne said his youngest two daughters know what he did to get put in jail and they realize he is working on getting help so he can be a better dad.

“They know I messed up, but they don’t hold nothing against me,” he said. “They’re ready for their dad to come home. I miss birthdays, Christmases, everything. I don’t even know what to tell them half the time. I call them and the only thing I can say is that I love you.”

A new beginning

Shayne has been in jail for more than 14 months on the robbery charge.

He was transferred to the Grant County Detention Center to participate in the Substance Abuse Program (SAP).

Shayne admits he initially signed up for SAP because he knew that the court system was going to make it a requirement for parole.

“I didn’t plan on changing anything,” he said. “I just wanted to make sure I got out. Being here though, I really learned stuff. I came in not caring, thinking I could slide through in six months. When you’re around it, you can’t help but pick it up. It makes you start thinking. I learned a lot of stuff about myself here. I really do have a problem. I can’t be going back to that.”

Shayne graduated from SAP on April 4, but he will not be up for parole until October.

Looking back, Shayne said he regrets ever taking pain pills.

The pills began a downward spiral that ended in a heroin addiction that led to a man behind bars and daughters without a father.

“I learned a lot of stuff, but I don’t think it’s worth all of the pain that I’ve suffered and the pain that I’ve caused, especially on my kids,” Shayne said. “They’re innocent and I’ve caused them all kinds of pain.”

When he finally is released, Shayne plans on attending A.A. meetings, staying away from negative situations and not holding in his feelings.

“With all the stuff I’ve picked up and what I know I’ve got to do to stay sober and that I can’t go back to the same people and things, I’m pretty confident,” Shayne said about not relapsing. “Overall, I can’t say because you never know. I could walk out there and 10 minutes later be drunk. Just like I could walk across the street, get hit by a car and die. But, I’m pretty confident that if I got out right now, that I would be able to stay sober. I know what to do now.”

Teen arrested on 11 charges from year-old warrant

By BECKY BARNES, Editor

A 19-year-old Cynthiana man was arrested Monday on a year-old warrant that totaled 11 charges.

Sgt. Wilbur Gross made a traffic stop and was presented a license with the name Zachary Wells.

Police did some investigating and determined that Wells was the same person as Zachary Adams, who had outstanding warrants.

When Gross arrested Wells Monday evening, he told police he has been in Cynthiana going to work and going home; staying out of trouble. He also said he knew there were outstanding warrants.

Wells was lodged in the Bourbon County Detention Center just after 11 p.m. Monday on charges of fourth degree assault, theft by unlawful taking, receiving stolen property under $10,000, possession of marijuana, possession of drug paraphernalia, possession of controlled substance, prescription drug not in proper container, unlawfully providing/permitting minor to possess handgun, unlawful transaction with a minor, trafficking marijuana under 8 ounces and possession of cannabinoid agonists or piperazines.

The original case was opened by Cpl. Walter Tapp after a search warrant was served last year at the corner of Miller Street and Wilson Avenue looking for stolen property.

Tapp said Wednesday morning that all of the charges against Wells stem from the search of the residence.

He said Wells has been able to elude police up to this point because the original charges were for Zachary Adams, which was the identification given police at the time of the search.

He has since changed his name back to Wells. So, when police would run his name, there were no apparent outstanding warrants.

Tapp said that Ptl. Jeff Thomas was with him during the search and that he was also with Gross at the time of the traffic stop Monday.

Farming

Opening day for Harrison Co. Farmer's Market

Vickie Fryman
Guest columnist

Spring has sprung at the Harrison County Farmers Market and we will begin the new season on Saturday, May 4 at 9 a.m. This year we have been blessed with some new farmers and hobbyists joining the membership and we all hope to bring the community of Harrison County new and exciting produce, flowers, garden plants along with many handmade products for your shopping pleasure.

Please join us at the market on Oddville Avenue at Flat Run Veterans Park to meet and greet your local farmers. Show your support and buy local fresh produce. The folks from Kelat Farm, Peacock Iris Garden, Stone Hedge Farm, K & Z Farm, Myers Greenhouses, Fryman Farm and a few others will be there to sell their produce and along with sharing recipes for the produce they sell as well as some handcrafted items.

The farmers have worked really hard this spring to bring you the freshest vegetables and country eggs. Make your shopping list out as to not to forget any of your favorite things such as asparagus, fresh green onions, lettuce, radishes, old fashion "poke" greens, spinach and other miscellaneous items.

Stacey Ishmael, right, administrative assistant to Sam Arnold, Jared Walker, left, young farmer and Harrison County Schools Superintendent Andy Dotson presented a check for $10,000 from the Agnes McDowell Trust to be used to enhance Harrison County Schools' Agriculture Programs.

Don't rush the summer vegetable garden

I am heading to Boulder, Colo., for a Slow Money National Gathering Conference and at writing they are melting a record April snow fall; a warming trend occurs before my arrival, thank goodness.

Our cold spring met with a blizzard in my destination that is the one opportunity I have to get away for some continuing education this year does not sit well.

While there is much to be done in the spring garden and our surrounding landscape, the cool season has helped to slow the sometimes frenetic pace.

I am so not ready to get any summer vegetables in because it is simply too cold yet.

Plus, we must consider the soil temperature, summer crops will not germinate by seed nor will there roots thrive in cold soils.

Hold off on the tomatoes a bit longer if you do not want them to languish.

Two things that can set you back in the vegetable garden from the start: poorly prepared soil and seedlings set out too early.

Jeneen Wiche
Columnist
www.SwallowTailFarm.com

Soil temperature has a great deal to do with how well your crops germinate, establish and produce.

Since we don't live in the soil (for some of us I suppose this could be debated) we are not as tuned in to the importance of soil temperature; sure, we know ambient air temperature and once it is above 65 degrees something in our brains is triggered and we want to start our vegetable garden straight away...be patient for some crops.

Cool season crops are out: potatoes, onions, leeks, and some greens. But it is still too early for tomatoes, cucumbers, beans, squash and other summer crops.

The fact of the matter is that certain seeds simply will not germinate until soil temperatures reach 70, 80, or 90 degrees.

Since tomatoes are likely the most popular summer vegetable (and the one that typically gets planted too early in some gardens) this example may be useful. Tomatoes are picky about soil and ambient air temperature.

Research conducted by the USDA-Agricultural Research Station in Urbana, Ill., revealed some interesting facts.

Anything below 55 degrees screws up the circadian clock of the plant.

Once the circadian clock is discombobulated the tomato's ability to photosynthesize during the day and process the starch into sugar at night is delayed within the regular 24-hour cycle of the day.

The photosynthetic metabolism of a plant that has been subjected to nighttime temperatures below 50 degrees starts to photosynthesize later in the day and the processing of the starch starts later in the night and the whole cycle gets displaced to the point that the plant languishes.

One sign of cold stress for a tomato plant is purple-tinged leaves, I have had plants with purple tinged-leaves ... they look robust and healthy but they never produced much.

It seems, too, that temperatures below 55 degrees also renders the pollen of a tomato flower useless (high heat will do this, too)...no fertilization of the flower, no tomato.

The reality is that gardeners are excited to get gardening in the spring so how do we effectively get everything we want: and early start, healthy plants and a good harvest.

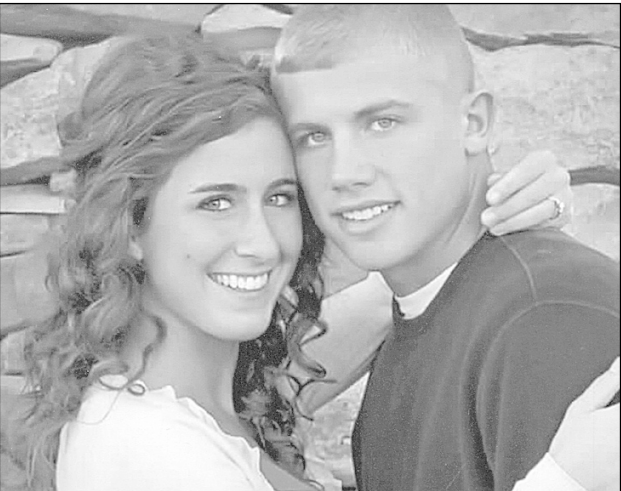

There are ways to plant early and ensure that you keep your plants warm. Heat the soil, first, by putting down black plastic.

Use a cleverly constructed cold frame system out of some household items.

You can create your own "wall-of-water" heating device by filling gallon jugs with water and lashing them together in a circle around your plants (or you can buy the pre-made plastic "wall-of-water" device).

The water will heat during the day and release the warmth overnight, keeping your tomato plant warm.

The Flower

A flower,
Sitting on a wooden table top,
Full of color and joy.

Slowly one by one the petals begin to fall,
Slowly to the wooden table top.
Each a withered husk of its former self.
Each lost its color and joy.
Each to be forever gone.
Each falling until there was only one left.

She stared down at her fallen friends.
There is nothing she can do for them.
Her colors have left her a long time ago.
Now she is nothing but a fragile shell.
She knows she has to let go.
She knows she wants to lay among her friends on the wooden table top.
She knows she does, and she does.

She slowly starts to fall.
Like the rest. She leaves her life of color and joy.
She is to never return.
Her memories are to be forgotten.
Her colors are to be forgotten.
She is to be forgotten.

(Un)Finished Perfection

They walk by
As if they are dancing on clouds
Their eyes filled with happiness
Their lips touched with laughter
They are the model of perfection.

But then, what are we?
The confused ones
The lonely ones
The forgotten ones
The trail left in their wake
Are we the model of lost hope
Or are we just unfinished perfection?

When they walk by
We stare in awe
And sometimes we wonder
Are they truly happy
And if not
What are we doing wrong?
Why do we look broken
And they look
Like they belong?

The Beauty of Day and Night

One day at a time this we all know
So take in it's beauty as if in a show
For tomorrow not here and yesterday gone
So see my dear friends
We may never know how long Don't worry what your heart felt in the past
Just go live today as if it's your last Give great thanks for all you've been blessed
For our dear Jesus can hand the rest

Shining it's moon for you and me
Guiding the way over land and sea
Sleep time comes with sweet sweet dreams
Hoping and praying for tomorrow to bring more beautiful things
For if the night falls short and
I should not wake
I pray to the Lord my soul to take
For this is my wish, if it should be true
For me and my Lord will be waiting for you.

LVC/MCTC adds simulation models to nursing program

The Licking Valley Campus of Maysville Community and Technical College is using simulation models for instruction for nursing.

The Licking Valley Campus simulation models include an adult, a pediatric, an infant and a birthing simulator. The purchase of the simulation models was made possible by an educational grant from the Department of Labor.

Deborah J. Williams, MSN, RN, nursing program coordinator, commented that simulation technology is currently being integrated into most nursing programs across the country.

She went on to say that the simulation technology allows nursing instructors to bring the practical experience to the classroom.

Simulation models are used to create real life situations that allow students to experience situations that they would not have the opportunity to have in the real world.

Williams noted that a significant part of the simulation experience is the opportunity for students to make errors in clinical decision making that serves as a valuable learning experience without having adverse patient outcomes.

This hands-on learning environment allows the students to gain the experience and the confidence they need to treat patients in real life.

Additionally, Williams said, the use of simulation technology allows the instructor to create patient care opportunities that a student might not always see in the clinical setting. Instructors can program scenario's that reflect medical and nursing problems that students are learning in class. In the real world, instructors cannot always guarantee that patients will be available that reflect what the nursing students are discussing in class.

Melanie Morris, BSN, RN assistant professor of nursing at LVC, serves as the lead instructor for the integration of simulation technology for the LVC Nursing Program.

Morris said, the first semester of nursing school, the simulation models are used for basic patient assessment. Manikins are used to check the students off on basic clinical skills such as listening to lung and heart sounds.

During the second semester, the simulation experience is more complex in that instructors use patient scenarios featuring real life medical situations.

For example, one scenario involves a star athlete who collapses at practice.

The scenario begins with the patient's arrival in the ER and continues until the patient is discharged.

The nursing instructors function as program facilitators who are able to change the patient's vital signs depending upon the interventions by the student.

Rebecca Sturgill, left, Licking Valley Campus student, Michelle Caudill, Licking Valley Campus nursing instructor, and Stacy Puckett, Licking Valley Campus student, participate in using simulation technology for the Licking Valley Campus Nursing Program.

For example, if the simulator temperature was 103 and the students intervened by using appropriate cooling measures and IV fluids then the facilitators would lower the manikin's temperature to reflect the use of appropriate nursing care by the student.

This enables the teachers to pull together pieces from labs, lectures and clinical areas that we would never have been able to expose the students to in such a real patient care environment, Morris said.

Alison Hendricks, BSN, RN associate professor of nursing, commented, "Our students gain tremendous experience at their clinical sites. LVC nursing students currently use clinical sites at Bourbon Community Hospital, Harrison Memorial Hospital, Nicholas County Hospital, Georgetown Community Hospital, Shady Lawn Personal Care Home, Grand Haven Nursing Home, and Cedar Ridge Health Care Campus. Our nursing program is so grateful to have such support from these local facilities where our students gain the experiences they need."

Hendricks went on to say that real life clinical experience is a cornerstone of nursing education but the use of simulation technology adds another dimension to their educational experience.

The newest member of the LVC nursing instruction team, Michelle Caudill, BSN, RN, said that she really enjoyed helping with the instructional simulations this semester.

Caudill, who is a recent graduate of NKU B.S.N. program, has been a nurse for many years and said that she would have loved to have access to this type of learning opportunity during her own student days.

Additionally, Caudill said that staff on the LVC campus also worked to make the simulation experience as life like as possible.

Larry Lemons, maintenance operations, at the LVC campus and Belinda Honican, administrative assistant for the nursing program played characters in the simulations that helped to create a realistic experience for the students and provided the students with the opportunity to practice communication and family interaction skills.

For more information about the nursing program, contact Williams at 859-234-8626 extension 66437 or email her at deborah.williams@kctcs.edu.

GRACE NOTES

Thanks to the miracle of my DVR, I just finished watching "The Bible" miniseries that ran on the History Channel for several weeks before Easter.

I wasn't sure how I'd like it — I was afraid it would be filled with rewritten theological untruths. But it stayed true to the biblical text.

I especially loved the angels. No wimpy, girly-men with white dresses and wings. These were big, tough, Ninja warriors who took armies of the enemies of God's people and crushed them.

Hooray, God!

One of my favorite parts of the whole 10-hour, five-part series was the birth of Jesus. As his mother Mary held her newborn son, and the stable filled with animals and shepherds and fancy-pants kings bearing gifts, Mary and Joseph looked stunned, as if to say, "Who are all these people who have come to see our baby?"

Someone asked, "What is his name?"

And I, sitting on my couch, called out to the TV, "Jesus! His name is Jesus!"

Mary said the same thing. "His name is Jesus."

At that instant I started crying.

Jesus. There's something about that name.

In 1970, Bill and Gloria Gaither wrote a simple, yet profound, chorus called "Something About That Name." In their recording of the song, Gloria speaks, saying that at the name of Jesus she's seen "sin-hardened men melted and derelicts transformed."

She says, "Emperors have tried to destroy the name," "philosophers have tried to stamp it out" and "tyrants have tried to wash it from the face of the earth with the very blood of those who claimed it — yet it still stands."

Jesus. There's something other-worldly, unique and wonderful about that name.

John Newton, the 18th-century slave trader who wrote "Amazing Grace," also wrote the beautiful "How Sweet the Name of Jesus Sounds" —

"How sweet the name of Jesus sounds in a believer's ear. It soothes his sorrow, heals his wounds and drives away his fears," and "It makes the wounded spirit whole and calms the troubled breast; 'tis manna to the hungry soul, and to the weary rest."

Jesus. There's something about that name!

Recently I asked some Facebook friends what the name of Jesus meant to them. They said: redemption, love, freedom, tender-hearted and true-seeing, my sins nailed to a cross, died so that I could live, mighty and awesome and wonderful.

Truly, it's difficult to choose just one or two words, thoughts or phrases to encapsulate all that the name of Jesus is, for it's far more than just a name.

Actually, during the time Jesus was on earth, many boys and men were commonly named Jesus. However, there has only been one Jesus who is Savior, King of kings, Lord of lords. Wonderful, Counselor, the Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace.

Emmanuel, God is with us.

Jesus!

I don't tell this story too often, because it sounds a little far-fetched and Twilight Zone-y, but one day years ago I was home alone and felt the presence of evil. Immediately, I fell to my knees and prayed, invoking the name of Jesus.

"In Jesus' name," I said to the evil, "leave my house" — and it did.

There's something powerful about that name.

Sometimes in my dreams the same thing happens.

"In Jesus' name. In Jesus' name."

It's awesome how just saying his name dispels the darkness and makes demons flee.

"All hail the power of Jesus' name, let angels prostrate fall," we sing in church.

To many people, the name of Jesus is a curse or a punchline, or just a name. Ho hum.

But to others, it's the name that "charms our fears, that bids our sorrows cease; 'tis music to the sinner's ears, 'tis life and health and peace."

Jesus.

There really is something about that name, the name woven throughout the entire Bible from first page to last. Amen.

Fillies error away Tuesday game at Montgomery Co. in 8 innings

By Mike Aldridge, Sports Writer
When your team outthits the opponent 13 to eight and your power hitter hits two home runs the chances of winning should be pretty good.
However, when your team makes nine errors in eight innings your fortunes probably won't be as good.
That was the case Tuesday night for the Fillies as they traveled to Montgomery County and dropped a 7-6 verdict in eight innings.
The 16-6 Harrison County girls started off well in the top of the first when Morgan Florence doubled with one out and Ashley Coppage hit her 14th home run of the year for a 2-0 lead.
The Lady Indians got the runs back in the bottom of the inning on only one hit and two errors to tie the game at 2-2.
Montgomery County then forged into a 6-2 advantage in the second when they put three straight singles together with a walk and three more Fillies' miscues.
Faced with the four-run deficit, the Fillies began battling back with a run in the top of the fourth when Florence drove in senior Yasmeen Smith who had walked with one out.

Still trailing by three runs in the top of the sixth Harrison County plated two more to cut the lead to 6-5.
Florence and Coppage started the inning off with back-to-back singles followed by a walk to Sydney Motell loading the bases.
Florence scored on a Jami Davis ground out and Motell scored one out later for the one-run deficit.
Coppage hit a two-out home run, her 15th, in the top of the seventh to tie the score and Davis sat the Lady Indians down in the last of the inning to go into extra innings.
Unfortunately, the Fillies went down in order in the eighth and senior Lady Indian Cheyenne Shepherd led the bottom half off with a triple and scored on a sacrifice fly to end the game.
Montgomery County improved to 13-7 with the win. The Fillies will next host 13-6 Nicholas County Thursday night at Shirley Field.
This will be senior night for the three Fillies seniors, Coppage, Florence and Smith.

Fillies win McDonald's Thorobred Sportswear Tournament, improve to 16-5

By Mike Aldridge, Sports Writer
The Harrison County Fillies won four times this weekend enroute to the championship of the McDonald's/Thorobred Sportswear Tournament. Williamstown, Taylor County, Somerset, and the Lady Royals of Mason County were the worthy opponents of the Fillies and each came up on the short end of the score.
The tournament featured teams from four regions as the Grant County Lady Braves were also involved in the round robin style tournament.
The Fillies played the Williamstown Lady Tigers of the 8th Region in the first game of the competition. Sixth grader Bailey Conley started the game on the hill for the Fillies and her four-hit pitching was backed up by a 15-run scoring barrage from her teammates as the Fillies won easily.
Harrison County had 11 hits and was issued 12 walks by Williamstown's 8th grade hurler Jade Pinkston.
Sydney Motell led the Harrison County onslaught as she was three for three with two triples and a double driving in five runs.

The Fillies had four doubles in the game as in addition to Motell's, Shelby Ishmael, Courtney Newsom and Haley Powers each had a two bagger.
Senior Ashley Coppage hit her 13th home run of the season in the third inning as she continues to lead the state in home runs.
The loss left Williamstown with a 0-12 record for the year.
Taylor County's Lady Cardinals brought a sparkling 19-3 record to Shirley Field at the beginning of the McDonald's/Thorobred Sportswear Tournament.
They went back to the 5th Region with a 20-6 mark as they lost close games to Somerset 3-0, Mason County 3-2 and this game to the Fillies by a 7-5 count.
Taylor County led or was tied for the lead in this game up until the top of the seventh when Harrison County scored three times to take the lead for good.

Breds runners up in HMMH/McDonalds Classic, Jaguars win

By Mike Aldridge, Sports Writer
The Harrison County Thorobreds baseball team posted a modest three-game winning streak until the championship game of the Harrison Memorial Hospital/McDonalds Classic where they dropped a game that was very winnable to East Jessamine.
After defeating Bourbon County last Monday the Breds were rained out of the scheduled doubleheader with Robertson County on Wednesday so they were idle until they opened the Classic facing Madison Southern on Thursday evening.

The Eagles opened the first inning with two hits and a run off winning pitcher Nolan Brossart who allowed all four of the Madison Southern runs.
Harrison County took the lead for good in the bottom of the first on a two-run home run by Jordan Martin.
John King had walked and scored ahead of the senior Martin.
The lack of control by the Madison Southern hurler led to more problems for the Eagles in the bottom of the second as after Noah Mitchell flied out to center, Brett Persinger, Robbie Stroub and Brandon Case each walked.
King then cleared the bases with a grand slam home run and the Breds led 6-1 after two innings.
The Breds scored four more times in the third on four hits and two more walks. Persinger's two-run single drove in two of the runs in the inning.
John David Meeks hit a three-run home run in the top of the third to make the score 10-4 after four and one half innings were played but that was all the Eagles would score.

The Breds scored their final two runs on one hit, three walks and a hit batsman for the final 12-4 score.
Jordan Riley and Cody Honeycutt finished up the last two innings on the mound for Harrison County allowing only one hit and no runs. The loss leaves Madison Southern with a 3-22 record while the Breds improve to 12-4.
Carroll County brought an 11-8 record to the Hilltop Friday night and figured to be much better competition for Harrison County.
Senior Martin took the ball from Coach Mac Whitaker and hurled a complete game allowing only two hits shutting out the Panthers in Harrison County's 4-0 win.
Martin was also the hitting leader for the Thorobreds as he went two for three with a double, two RBI and a run scored.
Again the Breds scored in the first as Martin's battery mate, sophomore Robbie Stroub, singled and scored in the first.
The score remained 1-0 until the bottom of the fifth when Martin's double drove in two runs and Cody Honeycutt plated Martin with a single. Martin

Spring football wraps up Friday after productive three weeks

By Mike Aldridge, Sports Writer
Coach Jim Carr has been pleased with many aspects of this year's spring football at Harrison County High School.
Spring football is governed by the KHSAA as to length of practices and also how long the practices can be held during the off season.
The practices allowed are 10 two-hour practices which must be held over a 15-day period.
Middle schools may also hold practice but the athletes who are still in the eighth grade, though they will be freshmen next year, may not compete with the high school students.
Carr said he has been happy for the most part with the number of players who have been out both with him and his staff with the high school squad and the middle school group with Coach Dr. Chris Kerns.

"We have had between 20-25 high school players and 30-35 middle school players out for each practice," said Carr. "We are appreciative of the cooperation that we have gotten from the track coach, Robert Walker. He has allowed his track people to come over and participate with us after they have had some time at track practice."
The football sessions are being held on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, with this Friday being the last practice.
"We will not have a scrimmage since I promised Coach Walker that we would limit the contact, but we will play a flag game or something on Friday at 6:30 just so the boys can have some fun," noted Carr.
A regular practice day consists of 40 to 45 minutes of individual offensive and defensive drills after a good 15 to 20 minutes of stretching and exercise.

After the individual work the players work out on the blaster machine, which is designed to aid with blocking and tackling technique.
The "blaster" was a neglected piece of equipment not used since the days of Coach Ray Graham and was refurbished by the current staff.
"We have made good use of the blaster along with the tackling sleds that Dr. Kerns got for us," said Carr. "Coach Kerns bought a five-man tackling sled for the middle school team and the other sleds for the varsity."
All of this spring work is leading up to the beginning of practice next year where the Thorobreds plan a much more successful season.

Track teams run well at Scott County, Sports Beat

host Harrison Invitational Saturday

By MIKE ALDRIDGE, SPORTS WRITER

The Harrison County track teams were 10 points from sweeping both the girls' and boys' team titles last Tuesday in the nine-team Scott County All Comers Meet held in Georgetown.

A very good field of Scott County, Bourbon County, Franklin County, Western Hills, Montgomery County, Woodford County, Paris, Rowan County and Harrison County competed in this meet which was blessed with good weather.

The Thoroughbreds won the meet out scoring Scott County 199 to 146 ½ with Bourbon County third with 88 points.

The Fillies were fourth but with 10 more points would have won as the girls' meet was extremely hotly contested.

Scott County won with 113, Western Hills was second with 112, Franklin County third with 109 and the Fillies next with 104 ½ points. Rowan County was fifth, 60 points behind the Fillies.

Harrison County won three events in the girls' meet with Caylin Mattox continuing her outstanding improvement.

Mattox took first in the 100M hurdles and second in the 300M hurdles.

Elizabeth Boyers won the triple jump with a leap of 25 feet, 2 inches and also was fourth in the high jump.

The 1600M relay team of Tara Martin, Haley Carr, Brooklyn Wiggins and Mary Levi won in 4:47.2.

Kayonna Iles was second in the triple jump just five inches behind Boyers while Haley Carr finished third in both the 100M and 300M hurdles.

Mary Levi was third in the 800M dash, Mattox was third in the pole vault and the 3200 relay team of Levi, Aubrey Coppage, Kayla Joy and Marie Bowen was also third.

The Thoroughbreds were led by six first place finishes and seven second place finishes as they dominated in the distance races, hurdles and relays.

Grant Carr won both the 800M run and the 1600M run. Austin Short was third in the 800M run and Joe Thomas was second in the 1600M run. Thomas won the 3200M run with Short again in third place.

Short, Thomas, Carr and Harry Smith combined to win the 3200M relay and Scott Kendall, Ben Anness, Carr and Derrick Hurst won the 1600M relay.

Todd Puckett won the triple jump with a leap of 41 feet, 9 ½ inches and was second in the long jump at 19 feet.

Daniel Klapheke and Colton Burris were second and third in both the 110M hurdles and the 300M hurdles and Taylor Bolin was second in the pole vault at 10 feet, 6 inches.

Big Dominic Walker took second place in both the shot put and discus as he hurled the shot 39 feet, 10 inches and the discus 113 feet, 8 inches.

The Harrison County Invitational Track Meet is one of the longest continually running track meets in Kentucky, if not the longest running.

It is known for tough competition and this year was certainly no exception.

On the cold and windy Saturday the Fillies finished sixth of 10 teams and the Thoroughbreds were third of 10.

Hurdles were again the bright spot for the Fillies as Mia Lail won the 100M event in 17:04 followed by Haley Carr in second.

Carr was fifth in the 300M hurdles as she continues to battle to get back to where she was last year.

Tara Martin, Carr, Jessica Alas, and Mary Levi were fourth as they ran the 1600M relay. Alas, Boyers, Martin, and RaeJean Hurst were fifth in the 400M relay as was the 800M relay quintet of Martin, Carr, Hurst and Kinsey Lesak. Kaylea Lemons was also fifth in the pole vault.

The Thoroughbreds had one first place finisher, Mason Ritchie, who leaped 6 feet, 2 inches to win the high jump. Joey Faulconer was second in the 800M run with Grant Carr fourth.

Faulconer was third in the 1600M run with Joe Thomas seventh.

Klapheke was second in the 110M hurdles with Burris right behind in third. Klapheke also took third in the 300M hurdles.

Puckett took two seconds, one in the long jump and one in the triple jump.

The 1600M relay team of Carr, Kendall, Hurst, and Zack Mastin was second in 3:49.6. Walker took third place in both the shot put and the discus while the 800M relay of Klapheke, Ben Anness, Kendall, and Hurst as well as the 3200M relay team of Thomas, Smith, Austin Short and Carr was also third.

The next meet for the season which is in its last full week is the Scott County All Comers on Tuesday followed by the Bryan Station Invitational on Saturday.

"Coach Walker and I would like to thank all of the volunteers and parents who helped make the Harrison County Invitational a success," said Coach Danny Simpson.

Fillies Senior Night, Breds Fence of Fame/Alumni Night this week

The Harrison County Fillies will celebrate Senior Night on Thursday, May 2, when the Nicholas County Lady Jackets visit Shirley Field for a 5 p.m. district battle.

Ashley Coppage, 3B/1B, Morgan Florence, C/IF, and Yasmeen Smith, OF, will each be honored as the three seniors on this year's Fillies squad.

The next evening, Friday, May 3, the Thoroughbreds will hold two events in one evening when the Scott High Eagles visit the Hilltop.

The festivities begin around 5 p.m. when any Cynthiana/Harrison County baseball alum would like to take a swing at a few pitches.

The Cynthiana Harrison County Baseball Alumni Association will have a hospitality tent set up for people to meet and greet.

This is a good time to join the association and help the cause of baseball in Harrison County. Last year the group gave five $300 scholarships to seniors who were furthering their educations and playing baseball in college.

Also, before the game, the Harrison County High School Fence of Fame will have one new addition. 2006 graduate J.D. Ashbrook will be honored in a ceremony that is scheduled for 6:40 p.m.

Ashbrook played for the Thoroughbreds from 2001 through 2006. During his career he batted .384 with 19 home runs, 123 RBI and 39 doubles.

He went on to Morehead State University where, as a senior, he was all OVC, a Ping All American and was on the All South Region team. He went on to sign with the Chicago White Sox and played a couple of seasons in their farm system before retiring from baseball.

Fillies

From FILLIES page 12

The Lady Cardinals scored first in the bottom of the first on an opening single by Cheyenne Moran and a triple by the left fielder Haley Franklin off starter and winner Jami Davis.

Davis gave her team the lead in the top of the second when she hit a home run scoring Motell who had led the inning off with a single.

Powers doubled with two outs in the inning but was not able to score.

The Fillies added another run for a 3-1 advantage in the top of the third when Morgan Grose led off with a single and was brought around on a couple of fielder's choices and an RBI single again by Davis.

Taylor County scored single runs in the third and fourth on an RBI double by Makayla Sabo in the third and a solo home run by pitcher Hannah Howard in the fourth.

Davis led off the sixth with a single and scored with two outs on a double by second baseman Cathy Chasteen to give the Fillies a 4-3 lead.

Taylor County came back with two unearned runs in the bottom of the inning on three hits and two errors at shortstop for the Fillies.

This put the Fillies behind 5-4 with one at bat left in the game.

Coppage and Motell each singled with one out and Davis doubled home Coppage to tie the game for her fourth RBI of the contest.

After a ground out to first for the second out, Newsom singled to right center scoring Motell and Davis giving the final 7-5 score.

Davis set the Lady Cards down in the bottom of the inning with the help of a double play and the Fillies battled back to win.

This loss left Taylor County with a 19-5 record for the season while the Fillies improved to 14-5.

The tough teams continued to come as next on Saturday was the Lady Briar Jumpers of Somerset High School. The winner of this game was to advance to the championship to face the Mason County Lady Royals.

The semi final game was the best played in the tournament as Somerset pitcher freshman Jordan Lafavers and the Fillies freshman hurler Davis hooked up for a pitcher's dual.

The Fillies scratched out six hits and five runs while Davis was limiting Somerset to three hits and three runs in the Fillies 5-3 win.

Davis struck out 10 and walked only one in this sterling performance.

Harrison County scored first with three runs in the bottom of the third.

Newsom and Powers led off with singles and after a strike out Morgan Grose placed a big sacrifice bunt down to advance the runners to second and third.

Morgan Florence singled in Newsom and after stealing second she and Powers came in on Coppage's single for a 3-0 lead.

Harrison County score two more times in the fourth when Davis singled and Powers drew a two out walk. Chasteen then drove a double to the left field fence scoring both runners for a 5-0 advantage.

Somerset scored all three of its runs in the fifth when an error in right allowed a base runner sandwiched between two strike outs.

Third baseman Alyssa Richardson hit a two-run home run which was followed by a solo shot by left fielder Kirschten Roberts to cut the lead to 5-3.

The next batter flied to left which ended the threat and the inning. Davis allowed only one more base hit in the next two innings and the Fillies were on to the championship. The loss left Somerset at 15-10 for the season.

Mason County was 0-6 entering the tournament but began playing their best ball of the season winning three times and making in to the championship game.

The Lady Royals' good fortune ended early in the game against the Fillies however, as Harrison County struck for three runs in the top of the first on a Shelby Ishmael double and two Mason County errors.

Mason County did scratch out a run in the bottom of the inning on a single, an error, a sacrifice and an RBI single by Abby Huff.

The score remained 3-1 until the top of the fifth when the Fillies struck for three more runs.

The inning started with a walk to Florence followed by a force out and an error at third base.

Davis lined out to the pitcher for the second out but then came three straight singles by Ishmael, Newsom and Powers which plated the three runs.

Ishmael had four RBI's for the game with two in both the first and fifth innings.

Mason County put the first three batters on base to begin the sixth and scored once on a sacrifice to right but Davis retired the next two batters with a strike out and a grounder to short curbing the rally.

The Lady Royals did get a runner to first in the seventh but did not score and the Fillies took the championship 6-2.

Harrison County improved to 16-5 while Mason County dropped to 3-7.

The Fillies were scheduled to travel to Montgomery County (12-7) for a 10th Region battle on Tuesday before returning home Thursday for a Senior Night battle with district foe Nicholas County (13-5). The Fillies will be looking to avenge a 10-0 loss in Carlisle last week when the Lady Jackets come to Shirley Field.

This weekend the Fillies will travel to Owensboro to play in the Sports Warehouse Catholic Classic. Among the teams Harrison County is slated to play are Oldham County (21-3), Hopkins County Central (12-4) and Hancock County (7-12). Owensboro Catholic (15-6) is the host school for the Classic.

Breds

struck out 14 Panthers en route to the 4-0 victory, which improved the Harrison County record to 13-4.

East Jessamine's senior first baseman, Jacob Overstreet, hit a two-run home run off senior starter Brandon Kendall in the top of the first to start the game off poorly for the Breds in the championship.

However, Harrison County scratched out two runs to tie when Stroub opened the bottom of the inning with a single.

Honeycutt reached on an error and Martin scored the pair with a base hit.

Kendall's fielders let him down in the second as after a base hit the perfect double play ball was mishandled at second base advancing runners to second and third.

A single scored a run and another run was allowed to come in on an errant throw, again from second base. Kendall had the Breds out of the inning with a fly ball to center but the ball was dropped and the third run scored making three unearned for the inning.

Kendall was able to hold the Jaguars in check for the next two innings but the Breds were only able to score one more making the score 5-3 going into the fifth inning.

The top of the fifth saw third baseman Brandt Redmon drive in two more runs with a two out double to make the score 7-3 with time running out for the Thorobreds.

Redmon was a thorn in Harrison County's side the entire game as he gathered three hits although he batted in the eighth position for the Jags.

Junior Zach Royce drove in a couple of runs for the Breds in a short rally in the bottom of the seventh but the third pitcher of the day for East Jessamine, Sam Hall, came in and finished off Harrison County.

Harrison County managed only five hits for the day, two by Stroub, and that was not enough to counter the four errors in the field and some timely East Jessamine hitting.

The Jaguars improved to 16-7 for the year while Harrison County stands at 13-5.

The Breds were scheduled to take on Mason County (9-12) in Maysville Monday night before traveling to Robertson County (1-9) on Wednesday and Nicholas County (10-11) on Thursday.

The Scott High Eagles will be the next guests on the Hilltop as they arrive Friday for the annual Alumni Night battle. J.D. Ashbrook will also be added to the Harrison County Fence of Fame during the pre game ceremony Friday night.

Cammack to demonstrate how she designs, paints gourds in Berea

On Saturday, May 11, Sally Cammack, of Cynthiana, will demonstrate how she designs and paints gourds, from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea.

Born in the coal mining town of Stearns, Ky., Cammack now lives in rural Cynthiana, where she uses gourds raised by her family and friends to create her work.

Gourds are picked in the fall and stored in an open-weave basket to cure.

When the gourds are ready, Cammack draws a scene on the gourd with a pencil. She then follows each pencil line with a hot wood-burning pen and adds color with a felt-tip pen. Rubbed-effect varnish is then brushed on the surface to seal the color. Sally's designs are all original, with many of the village scenes reflective of the town where she was born or the rural area where she now lives.

Painted gourds by Cammack are regularly available at the Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea, located at 200 Artisan Way, just off Interstate 75 at Berea Exit 77.

The center's exhibits, shopping and travel information areas are open daily from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., and the cafe is open from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Admission is free.

For information about the center's events call 859-985-5448, visit us on Facebook at www.facebook.com/kentucky.artisan.center, or go to the center's website at www.kentuckyartisancenter.ky.gov.
